The oldest yacht club in the world is turning 300[+2] years. You are invited. CORK300 in 2022

Hi Sailors,

The oldest yacht club in the world is celebrating its 300-year anniversary and you are invited. The Cork300 regatta and festival is a milestone event in this years sailing calendar.

The Royal Cork Yacht Club [RCYC] is in Cork Harbour, Ireland. In July 2022 the RCYC will be turning 302 years old and teams from across the globe will be attending. The 300 anniversary was postponed due to covid till this year. The event will be a milestone event and very much worth considering in terms of a sailing must do.

In previous years, teams from Royal Motor Yacht Club of Toronto [RMYC] and Lake Macquarie Yacht Clubs [LMYC], in addition to the Newcastle Cruising Yacht Club [NCYC] have fielded Corinthian sailors.

A Sydney 38 style yacht has been sourced for the regatta by a small team of local sailors and the team is looking for crew members. Please let us know if you are interested. It is a great opportunity to sail in this significant race and represent Australia on the water.

The crew share full cost of all items including the yacht and this has been sourced at a particularly low cost even though there is high demand for the race. With the current success of Australian sailing, we are interested in fielding a full team and offering the opportunity to other Australian sailors to join the crew and try their hand at international racing if you have not done this before. The sourcing of the yacht took over 9 months to complete due to the extreme demand.

There are up to 3 positions available with the team themselves determining the best positions for each crew member who are multi position capable and likely to move position for the various races over the week long regatta.

The accommodation will be sourced through the club with a large share house to reduce the costs of the trip as it provides great value. The share house allows the crew and families to be located together to help things run smoothly.

The cost of the yacht per crew is in the order of $1500 and is dependent on the number of crew that will be taking part. We are hoping for a full crew to reduce costs.

Flights are sourced individually to reduce costs and enables close access to Europe to holiday before or after the regatta to make the most of the trip.

If you are interested, please contact us expediently as positions are limited. A deposit of $300 is required to lock in your position. There are plenty of details available, so please feel free to get in contact for more information.

This is a great opportunity for sailors who may be interested in experiencing international racing against a large international contingent of sailors with a significant event to showcase Australian skills. There are experienced sailors that are familiar with racing and touring in Ireland and Europe who will be more than happy to assist in making the trip easy.
